The health service

Fund the NHS properly rather than giving advantageous terms to the private sector

Tuition fees

End tuition fees and explore other ways of raising the money needed by universities

Street crime

Increase the visibility of the police and special constabulary on our streets

International aid

Cancel debt, provide aid and assist African countries with the HIV/AIDS epidemic

Global warming

Pressure the international community through economic means to reduce CO₂ levels

Terrorism

Increase vigilance but remain true to our ideals of liberty and freedom of speech

Immigration and racism

Shorten waiting times for asylum-seekers and fast-track those with skills we need

Elexion 05

don't take it lying down

Transport

Back a few high-quality train operators to introduce reliability and lower fares

Europe

Reject becoming a state of a federal Europe but back closer trade ties

Iraq

Withdraw troops in a manner that doesn't allow warring factions to take over

< As the only Independent MP from 2001 - 2005 I cannot make promises about what I hope my party will achieve if I am re-elected as my party cannot gain power. But I can make promises about what I will fight for locally and vote for in parliament as I plan to continue to use the same tremendous privilege of supporting the Government when I believe them to be correct and voting with an opposition party when I believe the Government to be wrong.

Therefore this submission will be different from one from a prospective parliamentary candidate of a major political party.>
