

Freedom Of information Act – Channel Four Policy Statement.

Channel 4 Television Corporation is committed to openness of information as defined by the Freedom Of Information Act 2000. Channel 4 recognises its duty to maintain high standards of record keeping that document its principal activities. Channel 4 will therefore make available information as described in the Publication Scheme that is deemed non-exempt and of public interest.

Charging for information

Channel 4 does not intend to charge for information, unless the retrieval and research costs are onerous. If this is the case Channel 4 reserves the right to levy an appropriate charge. Copyright material such as Channel 4 publications will be provided at normal retail prices.
